It Positively Produces a Permanent Cure.

It is strange yet true, that as a rule it is the brightsecome adicted to this diseased appetite. A habit which makes them siaves, beclouds their minds, ruins their dispositions, and gives them in their more natural moments a hatred of self as well a 1a feeling that everyody despises them—to such an extent this society has no charma. But thunks to the Giver of all good this morbid, terrable habit, and degraded condition, as well as all of the disire and feeling for opiates in any form a soon removed by this remarkable antidote, entirely so, and the weakened body and mind are invigorated, given renewed health until

AMERICAN CYCLOPÆDIA. New Revised Edition.

Estirely rewrites by the ablest waters on ever subject. Printed from new type, and illustrated with Several Thousand Ecgravings and Mapr.

THE work originally published under the title of item New American Overlop. Did was completed in 1863, since which time the wide circuisation which it has attained in all parts of the United States, and the signal developments which have taken place in every branch of science, siterature and are, neve induced the editors and publishers to submit it to an exact the company was used the case are the company of the company of the company of the case the company of the case the company of the case are the company of the case the cas

Within the last ten years the progress of disc in every department of knowledge has made a work of reference an imperative want. wors of reservace an Emperative want.

The movement of political affairs has kept pace with the discoveries of science, and their fruiting application to the industrial and useful arts and the convenience and refinement of social sife, treat wars and consequent revolutions have occurred, involving national changes of peculiar moment. The civil war of our own country, which was at its reight when the last volume of the old work appeared has happly been ended, and a new course of commercial and industrial scrivity has been commenced.

Large accessions to our geographical knowledge have been made by the indefati, name exp.orers of

The great political revolutions of the last decade with the natural result of the laps. of time, have prought into public view a multitude of new men whose names are in every one's mouth, and of whose view every one is curious to amow the particulars lives every one is curious to anow the particulars Great battles nave been fought and important right maintained, of which the details are as yet preserved only in the newspapers or in the transcript publics those of the day, put which on, the now to take their palce in parament and authentic history. palce in parament and authentic history.

In preparing the present edition for the press, it has accordingly been the sum of the editors to bring down the information to the latest possible dates, and of narnas an accurate account of the most recent discoveries in science, of every fresh production in literature, and of the newsat inventions in the practical arts, as well as 10 give a succinct and original record of the progress of political and historical events.

The work has been begun after long and careful preliminary labor, and with the most ample resources for carrying it on to a successful termination.

None of the original stereoty plates have been used, but every page has been printed on new type, forming in fate a new Gyolopædia, with the same plan and compass of its predecasor, but with a far greater pecuniary expenditure, and with such improvements in its composition as have been suggested by loftler avertages and enlayed knowledge.

in its composition as have been suggested by lotter experience and enlarged knowledge.

The illustrations which are introduced for the first time in the pascent editum have been added not for the sake of pictorial sect, but to give greater incidity and force to the explanations in the text. They embrace all branches of seeners and manufactures of exherty, and depict the most famous and remarkable features of exherty, architecture, and art, as well as the various processes of mechanics and manufactures. Although intended for instruction rather than embelishment, no pains have been spared to insure their artistic excellence; the cost of their execution is enformed, and it is believed they will find a welcome reception as an admirable feature of the Cyclo, edite, and worshy of its high characte.

This work is sold to Subscribers only, payable on delivery of each volume. It will be completed in sixteen large octavo volumes, each ownaming about 800 pages, mily illustrated with several thousand Wood Engravings, and with numerous colored Lithe graphic Espe.
